Authority set to oppose 'forced' academy scheme

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON Borough Council looks set to become one of the first to oppose government plans to force all schools to become academies.

The council will hold an extraordinary meeting tomorrow evening to consider whether to back a motion from council leader Hazel Simmons opposing the draft plans, recently unveiled by Chancellor George Osborne and Education Secretary Nicky Morgan.

The motion calls on the government to scrap proposals which would aim to force all schools to become academies by 2020, or to have detailed plans on a conversion by 2022.

It is proposed legislation which the motion says would be 'damaging' and could even prevent the council ensuring 'adequate provision' for every child in the borough.

Converting a primary or secondary school into an academy would see funding come from central government instead of a local authority, taking schools within Luton outside the control of the borough council.

Councillor Simmons told Luton On Sunday: "It's the forcing of it that is the thrust of the motion."

"At the end of the day if the school chooses to go down the route of becoming an academy then fine. But it should not be forced upon them if it's not something they want to do."

Dave Mingay, assistant secretary of the National Union of Teachers (NUT) in Luton, welcomed the plans for the council to oppose the government's proposed scheme.

He said: "Forcing every school to become an academy will not solve the current school places crisis that we have in Luton as it will leave the council powerless to manage school places. Luton NUT urges all councillors to support the motion."

Councillor Simmons also argues that the money spent on converting schools into academies could be 'better spent' on staff and resources – quoting the cost of achieving academy status as £44,837 per school.

Alasdair Smith, national secretary of the Anti Academies Alliance, added: "Independent studies have shown that is the cost of converting to academy status."

"Just think how many school books could be bought with that money? Instead it will be going to lawyers covering converting costs."

But Councillor Michael Garrett, the leader of the Conservative Party in Luton, believes that the government plans 'would take the pressure off local authorities'.

He said: "I don't think local government should be involved with education. Becoming academies gives power to the school to decide their own curriculum, which will be of benefit to the children."

Although academies are still run on a day-to-day basis by a head teacher, they are typically overseen by an independent trust.

Andrew Cooper is the chief executive of the Shared Learning Trust, which runs five academies in Bedfordshire, including The Stockwood Park Academy in Luton and The Chalk Hills Academy on Leagrave High Street.

He told this newspaper: "Being a stand-alone multi academy trust is something we are very proud of, and gain a great deal from."

"As for the suggestion that all schools across the land must become academies, there should be a greater focus on investing in teachers and staff as an absolute priority, rather than the administrative structure in which they are working."

Nadiya's cake is fit for the Queen

Nadiya, who was born and lived in Luton until a recent move to Milton Keynes, was handpicked by the Palace to bake the treat for the grand celebrations. Electing to go for an orange drizzle cake, she watched Her Majesty grin while cutting it during a special garden party in Windsor on Thursday.

Nadiya said: "I couldn't have been more honoured for the opportunity."

Editor's Letter

Let's raise the bar in supporting our pubs

LOCAL newspaper archives must be stacked with pictures of landlords and/or landladies pulling their last pint.

Speak to passionate punters who turn out to defend their boozer to the last, and they will tell you the pub is loved; the hub of the community.

For many, it will be. But the sad truth in many cases is that it is just not loved – or visited – enough.

Despite a few hikes here and there, buying booze in supermarkets remains the cheapest option by a long shot.

I can't help but think the government could do more to help these struggling institutions encourage more customers back through their doors. What would be so bad about a subsidy for all drinks sold in a bottle or glass, from behind a bar? While shop-bought beer, wine and spirits would bear the brunt of tax.

Alright, a policy designed to get the nation back out and boozing may need some careful PR work.

But it would surely be better for the economy, for community spirit and for our pockets to drink on the occasions we go out – instead of on the cheap and perhaps every night?

Jilted boxer attacked ex after being dumped by her

BY COURT REPORTER
editor@ltnmedia.co.uk

A BULLY who carried out a vicious attack on his ex partner after she ended their relationship has been handed an 11-year-and-eight-month jail sentence.

Paul Porter (pictured), a trained boxer who 'knew how to use his fists', punched Charmaine Gray-Barnes hard in her right eye before delivering a flurry of blows to her head.

Such was the force of his punches he shattered her wrist as she tried to protect herself.

Porter, of Trident Drive, Houghton Regis, sobbed in the dock of Luton Crown Court when he appeared on Friday.

Porter, 39, pleaded guilty to criminal damage at the home of his ex as well as a charge of causing her grievous bodily harm with intent. The couple lived together for 13 years until the relationship broke down due to his mood swings and drinking. On August 5 last year Porter forced his way into a bedroom window of Miss Gray-Barnes' home, damaging the handle.

Prosecutor Max Hardy told how he had then returned to her Houghton Regis home on September 8 and attacked her.

He said: "He punched her without warning to the right eye, followed by hard, fast punches. He has a history of boxing, so he knew how to use his fists." Judge Lynn Tayton QC told Porter, who had been held in a secure hospital over concerns he might harm himself, he had 'dominated her life for 13 years' and posed a danger to his ex and others.

She also made a Hospital Limitation Order, meaning Porter will receive treatment at a secure hospital until he is well enough to complete his sentence in prison.

Missing suit leaves 'Elvis' all shook up

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

AN Elvis Presley impersonator has been left with a suspicious mind – after his iconic suit vanished.

The bejewelled white number was taken from the Grove Theatre in Dunstable after impersonator Lee Memphis King performed to a sell-out crowd on Friday.

The suit was made-to-measure for the performer and was created by Elvis' original jumpsuit designer and costs roughly £2,000.

Mr King said: "We didn't realise it was missing until after we got to Oxford the day after the show."

"I felt sick when I realised someone must have taken it."

Mr King's representative, Jill Schoonjans, said: "We are, as you can imagine, devastated that this would happen after a sell out concert. Lee's fans have been sharing the story via social media and it has already reached thousands."

"I would love to appeal to the person responsible to anonymously return the suit back to the theatre. We are also happy to offer a reward for the safe return of the suit.

"We believe that the suit went missing sometime during the load out or was accidentally left behind in the secure gated compound behind the theatre."

"From there, it is possible that someone picked it up because they liked the look of the suit carrier it was in – or perhaps thought it had been abandoned."

"However, on finding the suit inside, I would have hoped that a decent person would have handed it in to the theatre – sadly this does not seem to be the case."

"It would be a very difficult item to sell, as it is made to measure and therefore, of no use to anyone apart from its rightful owner."

A spokesman for the Grove Theatre said they did not wish to comment, except to say they are currently investigating the incident.

Mr King remains cautiously optimistic about the suit being recovered, saying: "I'm holding out hope that whoever has it will end up returning it, but as each day passes I can't help but feel it is getting more unlikely."

Burger bar's frying high with new eatery

AMERICAN restaurant giant Five Guys is expected to open its latest franchise – its first in Luton – within the next couple of weeks.

Although the chain is keeping a definite opening date close to its chest, it is expected to be within a fortnight, with early May the most likely time.

The burger joint will be setting up on the former site of the Toby Carvery restaurant in The Mall in St George's Square. At the moment Five Guys fans have to travel more than 20 miles to Milton Keynes to get their fix of burgers and fries.

The chain now has more than 40 restaurants in the UK, marking an incredible rise as it only opened its first in Covent Garden, London, back in July 2013.

A spokesman said: "We're very excited to be opening in Luton soon."

FINALLY a way to get rid of Slipped Disc

Advertising Feature

Are you suffering from back pain, arm or leg pain, numbness, tingling, or weakness in your arms or legs? Then it's likely you're suffering from a Slipped DISC. That's when one of your spinal discs is bulging or herniated and causing these, sometimes severe, symptoms because of the effect the disc is having on your nerve system.

You may have already had this diagnosed on an MRI and thought that there is little that can be done about it and that's a major problem: bad information, because in the right hands a lot can be done for you.

To end the misery caused by slipped discs you must have the right information. Pay close attention because I'm going to destroy some important myths and give you the facts.

MYTH: Slipped discs will just "go away" with some rest.

FACT: If you are dealing with back pain, buttock pain or leg pain, then you must seek help from a slipped disc specialist immediately. Left untreated a slipped disc can lead to permanent nerve damage - and lifelong pain.

MYTH: Pain is the only problem associated with slipped discs.

FACT: In severe cases, slipped discs can lead to the inability to control your bowels, bladder and sexual potency - leading to embarrassing situations.

MYTH: You must take pain medications to deal with slipped discs.

FACT: Drugs like muscle relaxants, pain killers, narcotics, antidepressants, and anti-seizure medications have serious potential side-effects and do not cure slipped discs.

MYTH: "I must have done something wrong to cause my disc to slip."

FACT: Physical work or simply sitting at a desk for long periods can lead to slipped discs. Accidents and trauma can also be the culprits. Pregnancy can cause damage. A slipped disc can happen to anyone - including super-fit celebrities like Tiger Woods, Sylvester Stallone, and British Olympic medalist Ian Wynne.

MYTH: Stop exercising and get several weeks of bed rest to let the slipped disc recover...

FACT: Staying active can help to the slipped disc recover and prevent the pain getting worse. Staying inactive in bed could be the worst advice - based on a recent study in the Netherlands.

MYTH: Slipped discs require surgery.
FACT: NO! There's been a huge breakthrough in the treatment of slipped discs. It's a new procedure called Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care. The excellent results from this treatment have been published in major medical journals. Success rates are up to 90%.

MYTH: "There's nothing anyone can really do. I'm just stuck with this for the rest of my life."

FACT: With the correct treatment from a healthcare professional who specialises in slipped discs, you can find relief from the core cause - and the symptoms.

MYTH: Getting slipped discs properly diagnosed is expensive.

GOOD WORK: Thomas Doogan and Colin Watson either side of the Prime Minister David Cameron along with a fellow EasyJet employee, Carolyn Thomas Brown

PM praises staff for terror efforts

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

EASYJET employees were invited to 10 Downing Street on Monday to thank them for the work they did in the aftermath of the Sharm El Sheikh terror attacks.

Two members of staff based in Luton, Thomas Doogan and Colin Watson, were invited to the White Room at the famous house to talk to Prime Minister David Cameron.

Mr Watson, an engineer, was on holiday and was due to fly home on the day of the attack but was left stranded. As an employee of the airline, he found himself being a mouthpiece for EasyJet while they tried to get people home.

HIGH FLYERS: The workers chatting to the PM

Mr Watson's support during the operational challenges in Sharm el Sheikh prompted a customer to write in praising him.

They said that many of the stranded passengers had limited internet and were therefore unable to get information so Mr Watson became

'the voice of EasyJet'.

Customer experience manager Mr Doogan, who has been employed by the airline for more than 20 years and oversaw the operation, said: "It was an absolute honour to come to 10 Downing Street and have a private audience with the Prime Minister."

Addressing guests at Downing Street, Mr Cameron said: "The reason for getting you here is to celebrate how essential transport is."

"Transport is a vital part of our manufacturing history and most of all it's a huge part of our future."

Travellers continue their tour of the county

A TRAVELLING community calling on councils to give them a permanent site set up home at Leagrave Park this week.

The community has previously been turfed out of sites at the former Magistrates' Court in Dunstable and Whipsnade Zoo within the last few weeks.

Up to 20 caravans were reported at Leagrave Park over last weekend, while members of the community had told this newspaper they would continue moving unless a permanent site was found for them.

Luton Borough Council has said it 'puts in place measures designed to prevent public sites from being illegally accessed', adding that it was still preparing a Gypsy and Traveller Local Plan.

This could see 'provision for temporary stopping places' and would be put out for consultation in the summer.

Uncertain future for engineer staff

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A LEADING union has said engineering jobs could be lost at Luton Airport as part of a restructuring process by a major firm based in the town.

Unite made the claims after Monarch Aircraft Engineering Limited (MAEL) announced on Tuesday it was looking at closing its maintenance hangar in Manchester and transferring it to Luton and Birmingham.

The union said 123 jobs at Manchester could go, while also claiming 13 roles could be lost in Luton and 'several' in Birmingham if the facility closes following a consultation.

But a spokesman for MAEL disputed the numbers, saying only 109 roles were affected in Manchester, 12 in Luton and two in Birmingham.

He also said they would offer alternative roles at different facilities to those who would be affected, and added they would only choose whether to close the hangar after consulting with employees in Manchester and their union representatives.

JOB CUTS: London Luton Airport

Andy Mackay, the interim managing director of MAEL, said: "We are fully committed to retaining talent, skills and expertise within our business."

"In the event that redundancies become necessary, we will offer alternative roles to those affected, with relocation to our other facilities."

The proposal follows an extensive review of MAEL's UK aircraft engineering operations by the specialist airline advisory business Seabury. Nevertheless, Unite leaders branded the move a 'severe blow'.

The union added that it was 'disappointing news' - especially after Monarch staff had accepted a large pay cut 18 months ago to secure a take-over deal.

Oliver Richardson, Unite's national officer for civil air transport, added: "It is very disappointing and a severe blow to our engineering members to hear this news when they have played their part in turning around Monarch and making the airline the profitable business that it is today."

Unite regional officer Paul Bouch added that the company had held its first meeting with management on Thursday.

He said: "Unite will be giving maximum support to our engineering members affected at Monarch in the days and weeks to come."

"We had our first meeting with management on Thursday, where we were pressing very hard to avoid compulsory redundancies and also for redeployment, wherever possible."

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

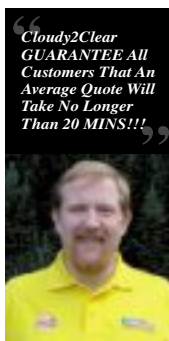

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable & Stevenage areas and manager

Tom Bliss agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

Takeaway 'covered in grease' fined £5k

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A DIRTY takeaway in Bury Park that was 'covered in grease' has been prosecuted - leaving the owner more than £5,000 out of pocket.

Kebabish, in Dunstable Road, was inspected by food hygiene officers at Luton Borough Council and subsequently taken to court.

The inspection, in November, found poor standards of cleaning - despite the business having accepted six cautions for similar offences at a previous inspection.

The caution was a last chance of avoiding prosecution so when the council discovered dirty and damaged surfaces and equipment, they took action.

Inspectors found that walls and pipework around the cooking appliances were covered in grease, while there were pools of fat with chips and kebab meat lying on the floor under fryers.

They also found that food containers were dirty, switches and taps were 'crusty' to touch and shelves in the fridge were not clean.

The inspector also noted

DIRT AND GRIME: Inspectors found this scene when they inspected Kebabish in November last year. The owner has since been fined.

that the chef was not wearing protective clothing, and only after he was told three times did he put on an apron.

Owner Mohammed Usman Fareed stated that he works elsewhere and that the takeaway is run by another family member.

He added that since the visit they have carried out a 'deep clean', employed a cleaner and made improvements.

Fareed pleaded guilty to five hygiene offences at Luton

Magistrates' Court on April 6.

He was ordered to pay fines totalling £5,825, plus a £116 victim surcharge each, as well as the council's costs of £436.66.

Councillor Jacqui Burnett, portfolio holder for people and places, said: "It is inexcusable to ignore simple principles of personal hygiene such as wearing an apron. Businesses that continue to ignore food hygiene requirements face prosecution."

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Abu Abioye

Junior doctor on strike

THIS week Abu Abioye, a junior doctor at Luton Dunstable Hospital, tells us why he is joining scores of junior doctors up and down the country as they go on strike over the contract Health Minister Jeremy Hunt intends to impose from August.

I AM a junior doctor - someone who has graduated from five or six years of medical school but has not become a consultant or GP yet. This can take more than 10 years.

I am a fully qualified doctor and will probably be the one who admits you into hospital when you are sick, holds your mother's hand as she's given her diagnosis, and helps remove the cancer that's plaguing your grandfather.

But I have taken the decision to strike on Tuesday and Wednesday with a heavy heart. I studied hard at medical school, got my dream job, and accepted the fact that I would have to work hard and make sacrifices. What I was not prepared for was the government changing my contract of employment.

In summer 2015, Jeremy Hunt threatened to impose a contract on junior doctors that, in my opinion, was unsafe and unfair on patients. This led to almost 98% of junior doctors voting to strike as a last resort. Mr Hunt has now imposed that contract and as a result I feel I have no other option but to stand out in the cold and rain protesting a contract that demeans doctors and puts my patients at risk.

It is not about pay, it's about safety and fairness. The government is going to remove the safeguards that prevent doctors from being overworked, and tired doctors are more likely to make mistakes.

It is really important that there are penalties to hospitals that try to cut corners and overstretch their staff. Patient safety always comes first as far as I am concerned. Taking away these safeguards could have serious repercussions.

Additionally, the new contract pays junior doctors 13.5% more for "normal hours", but extends "normal hours" to include more hours during the day and also Saturday. We don't want to be paid more, what we want is for Saturdays to be recognised as not being a "normal" day.

If more routine operations and clinics take place over the weekend without money being invested in other staff (pharmacists, radiographers, lab technicians, etc) then patients will not get the best care. Also, if I am working more weekends than I currently do, then who will look after the wards during the week?

This contract has not been well thought-out and my voice has gone unheard by the government, all in the name of politics.

I am a doctor, not a politician. I love my job and was willing to incur debt of more than £50,000 and six years of relentless studying to get to where I am. Imposing this new contract has demoralised me and my colleagues.

As we stand outside the hospital next week, trying to keep warm and keep our spirits up, I hope you will take the time to talk to us and find out why we are fighting for our patients and the NHS we love so dearly.

Who's in charge?

If we stay in the EU, I would like a question answered please: Why do we need a government? Or a shadow cabinet, or any other political parties. Brussels are making the rules and the laws that we must abide by.

All we need is a managing group to make sure we carry out Brussels orders. County and borough councils are running the country now.

Politicians want to stay in the EU, because it makes their non jobs easy. If we stay in the EU. How can politicians justify their jobs, salaries, or pensions, for doing nothing.

If we come out. They might have to do a days work for the first time in their lives.

John Tucker
Bracklesham Gardens
Luton

leading member of the Queensway Hall Action Group, and also stood in the 2005 General Election in Luton North, I seldom write to newspapers or answer the general statements that other people make. However, this is my opinion on the subject of the EU referendum:

If we take 2005, as the period, from which to compare everything, that's just over 10 years. We all know there are problems in our society and communities. We know the NHS is in a terrible state; there aren't enough nurses, beds, hospitals, etc. We know there aren't enough Police on the streets.

Parents and teachers especially know that class sizes are continually increasing, and more and more teachers are leaving the profession, which obviously effects the quality of education this generation's children will receive. We know there are more people living here; that rents have increased significantly higher than inflation, and the conditions that some people live in are absolutely appalling. We know more and more migrants both from within the EU, outside the EU and illegally, have been coming here every day, since 2005. We don't need a TV to show us or to read national / local newspapers, we can see these things for ourselves, with our own eyes in Luton and Dunstable and the surrounding villages.

We don't have to be told "facts" and figures by the government or different campaign groups, supposedly speaking only the truth.

What we should do, in my opinion, is simply look around and think about what we can see in our own community.

How have you benefited, over the last 10 years, from being in the European Union? Have your wages improved significantly, so you can buy more things, go out more often, save lots of money and buy a better house? Has the influx of immigrants been for the better by increasing the number of nurses, teachers and other professionals that any community needs? Have our roads, GP surgeries, and other public services improved due to being in the EU? Has access to, and the availability of education in schools, colleges and the University of Bedfordshire, and local public services such as hospitals, become easier, cheaper and better over all?

The debate about whether we leave or remain in the European Union, will be settled by people voting (or not), based on how they feel about their own life. The question I would like to ask you is: "Do you want to remain in a club that isn't improving your life?"

We've seen what being a member of the European Union has brought us, now let's see if we can do things better on our own.

Calls to save farm education centre

NEARLY 2,000 people have signed a petition calling on Luton Borough Council to save Dell Farm Outdoor Education and Activity Centre in Whipsnade.

The centre is set to be returned to the council in August after a lease from Active Luton is terminated - but the council says it can't afford to run it either and is waiting to hear from interested parties.

The council has 'received a higher level of interest than anticipated, with proposals not originally contemplated'.

Leisure centre to get £20m facelift

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

DUNSTABLE Leisure Centre will be redeveloped for £20 million - giving a new home to the library and Citizen's Advice Bureau.

An artist's impression of how the building could look has finally been released, while further details of the plans have been unveiled ahead of a consultation with residents which is set to end on July 8.

NEW LOOK: An artist's impression of the new centre

The plans include giving a major facelift to the current leisure centre in Court Drive, while relocating the existing library in Vernon Place.

It would also feature a new cafe, creche, and a bigger gym, although the building will have to be shut from summer 2017 while work takes place.

Central Bedfordshire Council said that by 'bringing services together under one roof, we can make better use of our buildings and reduce our ongoing running costs' - adding that neither the current leisure centre, library or CAB building were 'fit for purpose'. CASE DISMISSED: Tommy Robinson

Founder of EDL has assault charges dismissed by court

THE former leader of the English Defence League has had assault charges against him dismissed in court.

Luton-born Tommy Robinson – charged under his real name Steven Yaxley-Lennon – appeared at Peterborough Magistrate's Court on April 14 to answer charges of assault by beating. The 33-year-old had been accused of fighting with a man while he was locked up in HMP Peterborough in July last year.

But the case was dismissed after the prosecution offered no evidence.

The 33-year-old posted a video on Twitter after the court hearing saying it had all been a 'stitch up'.

Mr Lennon now fronts anti-Islamist group Pegida UK.

Cleared councillor may make return

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A FORMER councillor who lost his seat in an election despite being cleared of making derogatory candidates to a political rival has said he may consider a return to politics if the time is right.

Yaqub Hanif, a former ward councillor for Round Green on Luton Borough Council, lost his seat in May last year – shortly after he was cleared of accusing a Conservative rival of being 'a disgrace to Islam'.

The Labour member still gets phone calls to this day from people unsure whether he was cleared of the comments.

But Mr Hanif says he bears 'no grudge' against the complainant, saying 'life was too short' to hold such attitudes.

He said: "I'm open to returning if the time is right because I love my town so much."

"I still get phone calls from people who want to talk about it. I don't want that to be my legacy."

The Local Assessment Panel (subcommittee of Standards Committee) met on April 30, 2015 to consider the complaint, but found Mr Hanif had nothing to answer for.

A council spokesman said: "On that occasion the Panel rejected the complaint and no further action was taken. The complainant was informed of the decision."

The complainant, Basit Mahmood – who was standing to be a councillor – called the council's decision to reject the complaint 'a joke'.

OLLY MARTINS LABOUR

War is bringing unimaginable terror to people's lives and leading desperate people to conclude they should build a new life elsewhere. But this can lead to the replacement of one nightmare with another, even on our doorstep. That's why modern slavery, serious sexual offences and child sexual exploitation are amongst the 'hidden harms' I have prioritised, working with partners in local government and charities.

Inevitably there will still be issues because Luton Airport is a major entry point to the country. Clearly it will be necessary to work with the local authorities, voluntary organisations and other statutory bodies in managing legal 'refugees' who come to Bedfordshire, so that they are given the necessary support. BUT legal refugees should not be in need of police assistance or attention. The local authorities have the duty and facilities to deal with this issue. Clearly these authorities need support but this should be provided by Central Government, not at the expense of local taxpayers.

the refugee crisis

THE countdown to the May 5 Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) election has begun. For the next two weeks we will be asking your candidates to respond to a different issue. This week we asked: What is your response to the refugee crisis and how would you work with local authorities to address the flow of refugees into Bedfordshire?

LINDA JACK LIBERAL DEMOCRATS

My personal response however is coloured by the fact I foster two unaccompanied minors. I believe that the government should be doing far more to ensure that access is given particularly to unaccompanied children, especially those with family here. I know Bedfordshire people are compassionate and welcoming and I would expect that Bedfordshire would willingly offer homes to these children.

TONI BUGLE ENGLISH DEMOCRAT

There are undoubtedly thousands of illegal immigrants here and I would be eager to assist the Immigration Enforcement Division of the Home Office in apprehending and removing these individuals. Large scale migration creates many challenges for policing, in identifying who you are dealing with, and establishing whether any migrants are perhaps even violent or dangerous criminals.

We can only admit those who can prove who they are and that they mean us no harm. This is not hard-hearted, it is common-sense. The government is committed to accepting refugees and they must be made welcome when they get here as they have suffered appallingly. We must not create a ghetto but integrate. Our police will need to be trained to understand this issue and the terror these people leave behind them. I worked with the Vietnamese Boat People when they came to Britain and know how vital it will be for police to work with housing, education, social care and employment services.

Mill back in action as youth charity reveal £3m revamp

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

A NEW facility for young people has opened its doors in the heart of Luton.

Youthscape moved into Bute Mills, in Bute Street, following a £3 million refurbishment and had their first event on Friday evening.

Youthscape tackles a number of issues, aiming to help youngsters with whatever difficulties they face and those running the charity feel the new building will allow them to expand the work they already do.

Chris Curtis, who joined Youthscape as its first employee in 1993 and is now CEO, has seen a lot of changes in his near 23 years at the helm. Mr Curtis said: "There's a huge amount of excitement about the place at the moment and I'm so happy it's almost there, given the enormity of the task."

"I think it will be a great facility for the community and they've been so great in helping us get over the line and get this new centre up and running."

"When I first started it was just me and we barely had enough money to get through the first year, now we have 27 employees and are going from strength to strength."

Bute Mills, which was built in 1911 and has had a long and varied history as an industrial hub in Luton and was acquired by the charity in December 2013, having first appeared as an idea in July 2012.

Mr Curtis said: "I was standing on platform one of Luton train station when I noticed the building had a

"Other people were interested in buying the property, but we arranged a deal with the owner to allow us until December 31 2013 to get the £1m we needed together. It was a tough ask but we managed it and finalised the deal on New Year's Eve 2013."

The building's industrial history is a big part of Luton and the group are keen to make sure that it isn't forgotten.

Mr Curtis said: "We're very aware of the industrial history of the building."

"It's been a steam mill, a fertiliser plant and was even briefly a hat factory."

"It's something we're keen to preserve and have murals on the bathroom walls depicting stories from the building's history."

The new facility will be a base for the charity, but will also have recreation spaces, a conference centre, a gallery and a training room, to help prepare future youth workers to carry on their work.

The group currently engages with between 6,000 and 8,000 kids a year and works closely with around 400.

They also act as a national training centre for teachers and youth workers, having trained just under 5,000 people since they started that scheme.

On what he hopes Bute Mills will be able to offer in terms of services, Mr Curtis said: "Three words cover our aims for services we aim to and feel we will be able to provide now as a result of our new facility: more, better and different."

"We can do more because of the increased space, we have better facilities than before and we also want to expand what we do."

"We've got a number of dedicated areas for young people to use and we've tried to make it a more homely environment, instead of a sterile youth centre like environment."

Prison 'inevitable' for club brawler

BY COURT REPORTER
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A CLUBBER who punched another man who had been flirting with his girlfriend in a nightclub has been convicted of manslaughter.

Tomas Juska was 'poleaxed' by the blow, hitting his head on the ground as he collapsed, causing a lethal brain injury.

Cortney Batchelor was found guilty by a jury at Luton Crown Court on Monday, by a unanimous verdict.

Judge Richard Foster told him: "A custodial sentence is inevitable," but granted him bail with conditions until he is sentenced in about four weeks' time.

Mr Juska, 24, from Lithuania, who worked for Amazon, died the day after the assault outside Club Cookies, near The Grove Theatre, Luton Crown Court was told.

Batchelor, now 22, of Paisley Close, Luton, pleaded not guilty to manslaughter, saying he acted in self-defence.

Prosecutor Michael Speak

GUilty: Cortney Batchelor

said Mr Juska and work colleagues were having a night out in the club on Sunday, August 23 last year.

Batchelor, who did not know Mr Juska, was also in the club with friends while his new girlfriend was working behind the bar.

The prosecutor said: "Mr Juska took an interest in the barmaid and flirted with her. "It seems Mr Batchelor was nearby and noticed he was paying attention to her.

"He took exception and did not want Mr Juska flirting with his girlfriend. It annoyed him," he claimed.

At about 3.15am Batchelor left and Mr Juska was also outside.

Giving evidence Batchelor said that outside the club the other man showed aggression and was challenging him and he thought he was going to be hit, so he punched him first as a pre-emptive strike.

Five-a-side match in aid of refugees

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutonsunday.co.uk

A CHARITY football marathon has been organised in aid of Calais refugees.

The five-a-side match will run for 12 hours, with rolling substitutions and people donating in order to take to the field.

Organised by Asif Khan, the group hope to raise money for food parcels to deliver to the camps in the north of France.

Mr Khan said: "We've had a really good response from the community and are hoping for it to be a great day."

"Luton Borough Council have allowed us to use the field in Chaul End for people to host stalls on and it should be a great day for all the family."

"We're trying to get the whole community involved."

Mr Khan has currently raised £400 - a figure which he expects to rise dramatically in the run-up to the event. He added: "We've got backing from five local companies who are sponsoring the event."

"We've got five committing to donating £250 and also donating per goal scored in the match."

The group plan to make the trip to Calais in early June.

Mr Khan added: "We've spoken to a charity down there and will be distributing aid ourselves among three areas of the camp."

Spend a night or two with funnyman Omid

ONE of Britain's top comedians is coming to the Library Theatre next month for a two-night stint.

Stand up and actor Omid Djalili will be performing on May 14 and 15.

Born in Britain to Iranian parents, his latest tour has seen him travel the length of the county, tackling current affairs in his typical risqué style. The first significant success of his career came in 1995, when his performance at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival brought him to national attention. Since then he has just gone from strength to strength. Just 10 years after his Edinburgh debut, he set a record for the most number of tickets sold in a single festival, with 16,500 people coming to watch him perform.

Along with touring Britain, Australia and many other places across the world, Djalili is also an established actor, having made appearances in big screen successes such as Gladiator and The Mummy.

The majority of his shows on this tour have sold out, so be sure to book soon so as not to miss out on what is sure to be one of the biggest comedy shows in Luton this year.

Support on the evening comes from Hull-based musical comedian, Boothby Graffoe. Tickets for the show cost £22 and are available online at lutonculture.com

COMEDY

SPECS COMEDY
KENILWORTH ROAD
MAY 6

Bloomin' funny

SPECS Comedy is back with another top quality line-up featuring some of the best comedians from the London circuit.

Heading the bill is Adam Bloom (pictured). A regular on Never Mind The Buzzcocks and Russell Howard's Good News, Adam has appeared at comedy festivals all over the world including sell out Edinburgh shows.

It's no surprise Ricky Gervais described him as 'one of my favourite stand-ups in the past 10 years'.

Bloom not only has meticulous, brilliant lines, but also an intense and fragile honesty, Gervais said.

Next up, is Sean Percival.

Sean's comedy style is described as 'the epitome of the working men's club and his act is influenced by the safe, middle-class and politically correct humour that has dominated comedy for a long time.'

A performer at Edinburgh, Glastonbury and Reading festivals, Sean has established himself as a headliner which earned him regular host spots for the Jongleurs comedy clubs as well as a writer on Capital Radio.

This will be the second return to Specs Comedy for the Dudley native.

Opening the affair is one of Scotland's top comedians, Dougie Dunlop. Dougie has headlined the prestigious Big Value comedy package show at the Café Royal as well as performed across the world as far as Shanghai.

His relaxed demeanour as a comedian makes him popular at corporate events and weddings across the country.

Dougie was Kevin Bridge's tour support in 2012 and 2015 so you can expect comedy of the highest quality from this funny Scot.

Joining these three is Jason Patterson, who will be hosting the affair.

Jason is a previous winner of the Comedy Store Gong show which blessed him with a successful tour that took him to comedy clubs in Nottingham, Birmingham, Brighton and Derby.

Jason's strong consistent performances led him to being nominated for the Best Newcomer at The Black Entertainment Comedy Awards in 2008.

The show is held in the Eric Morcambe suite at Kenilworth Road.

This performance is strictly for ages 18 and over.

Tickets for the show cost £8, or £24 for four, and are available to book online at skiddle.com

Where Eliot wrote verse

TS Eliot is one of poetry's biggest hitters who's had a huge cultural impact. His Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats inspired mega musical Cats, the TS Eliot Prize is Britain's biggest poetry competition and a few years back, Eliot topped an online BBC poll to find the Nation's Favourite Poet.

US-born Thomas Stearns Eliot settled here in 1915 and worked as a schoolteacher before joining the publishers Faber and Faber where he promoted home-grown poets including W.H. Auden, Stephen Spender and Ted Hughes.

His notoriously unhappy first marriage to Vivien Haigh-Wood was said to have inspired The Waste Land, one of the 20th century's greatest poems. After her death, Eliot moved to Kensington Court Gardens in 1957 with second wife Valerie Fletcher, a secretary at Faber and Faber.

The marriage was criticised not only because it was kept a secret from everyone but her parents, but at the time Eliot was 68 and his bride only 30. A heavy smoker, Eliot lived in the building until he died in 1965, where his widow remained until her death in 2012.

On the market for £5.75m, the five-bedroom mansion house apartment is one of the largest lateral flats in the area, stretching into the building next door. Although boasting a grand formal reception room with ornate fireplace, along with an informal reception room and bedrooms with high ceilings and large windows, it could do with a complete overhaul.

Rural retreat of a rock legend

DURING the 1980s Ronnie Lane, bass player and founding member of the 1960s super band Small Faces, developed multiple sclerosis. But despite being broke and unable to earn a living, his celebrity pals rallied around him.

In 1983 Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck, Jimmy Page and members of the Rolling Stones got together to hold special charity concerts. And in 1996 an album, A Tribute to the Small Faces: Long Ago and Worlds Apart, featuring Paul Weller, Primal Scream, the Buzzcocks and Ocean Colour Scene raised £50,000 for Lane. However, he ended up living in poverty in Texas and died a year later aged 51.

Lane wrote classic hits including Lazy Sunday and Itchycoo Park. He went on to form the Faces, belting out the hit Stay With Me with Rod Stewart.

After moving to a farm on the Welsh borders, Lane enjoyed visits from his rock and roll friends, and locals remember impromptu performances in pubs with Eric Clapton, Keith Richards, Mick Jagger and Bill Wyman. There are also stories of Elton John and Lemmy from Motorhead travelling down to use Lane's recording studio.

His 1976 album One For The Road featured a panoramic photograph of his house which, although now looking somewhat different to the picture, is up for sale at £350,000 and needs a makeover.

The three-bedroom stone cottage in Hyssington, near Shrewsbury, has a lounge, kitchen/diner, pantry, conservatory, stables, garden with orchard, paddock and separate outbuilding that once housed the recording studio.

Kate's not-so-Titanic house

Multi-award-winning actress Kate Winslet regularly picks up awards and accolades and rarely gets a bad review.

The A-list star, who most recently scooped the Best Supporting Actress BAFTA for her part in Steve Jobs, is currently in New York filming Collateral Beauty with Helen Mirren and Will Smith.

However, she's not universally popular and ruffled conservationists' feathers after she and husband Ned Rocknroll relocated from New York to live permanently on the West Sussex coast with her three children.

The couple bought a Grade II-listed, eight-bedroom house for £3.25m and fell out with Natural England who feared her plans for a 600ft barrier to shield the 17th-century house from storms and high tides in West Wittering would destroy wildlife habitat.

The actress experienced similar friction from neighbours of her previous home in Treyford, Chichester, where she was forced to withdraw an application to build a set of wooden gates.

Winslet's first forays into property came after making her name in the blockbuster Titanic back in 1998, when the then 22-year-old used £200,000 of her growing fortune to buy this three-bedroom getaway in Angarrack, a 20-minute drive from St Ives.

She and first husband Jim Threapleton would spend weekends there with baby daughter Mia but sold it in 2001 for a £50,000 profit after splitting up. It's now got a £400,000 price-tag.

The Japanese-inspired holiday home is set over three floors with a double-height open plan kitchen/dining/living room downstairs.

There's a separate, self-contained studio apartment, while a large deck runs round the whole house, leading into a timber bridge down to a landscaped garden.

GOSSIP

Live above Notting Hill bookshop

MOCKED by some hard-hearted critics, the film Notting Hill is undoubtedly a bit cheesy but was the highest grossing British film of 1999.

Audiences lapped up the rom-com's on-off relationship between famous actress Anna (Julia Roberts) and tongue-tied William (Hugh Grant,) a lonely divorced bloke who shares his house with a wacky Welshman called Spike – the role which made Rhys Ifans a star.

They fall in love after the Hollywood A-lister wanders into his independent travel bookshop, and ends with her tear-jerking proclamation: "I'm just a girl, standing in front of a boy, asking him to love her." Naturally, they live happily ever after, and a final montage sees them sitting cosily on a park bench, awaiting the birth of their child.

Richard Curtis penned the story after visiting The Notting Hill Bookshop in Blenheim Crescent, just off the capital's Portobello Road. Although none of the blockbuster was shot in either the shop or flat above, filmmakers used it to inspire set-building and plenty of tourists still take selfies outside.

Sarah Anderson is moving out after living above the shop for 35 years – she sold the business in the 1990s before the film was made, but continued to run it for the new owners until 2005.

Her upper floor maisonette with its own private entrance boasts high ceilings and large windows. The master bedroom is on the top floor, along with a large bathroom and access to a terrace with views over Notting Hill. It's on the market for £1.495m.

Home to a controversial critic

PASSIONATE modern poetry pioneer Ezra Pound helped discover and publish several literary heavyweights including, most famously, Ernest Hemingway.

As foreign editor of American literary magazines, the expatriate American built a reputation as a literary reviewer and critic with views that wouldn't be out of place today; after the First World War, Pound believed that international capitalism was causing global conflict. However, his publicly pro-fascist sympathies didn't do him any favours and he ended up backing Italian dictator Benito Mussolini. Pound recorded hundreds of radio broadcasts for Rome Radio, praising Mussolini, criticising the US, and claiming that the war was the result of a Jewish conspiracy.

He was arrested and held in a years later, and he returned to live in Italy until his death in 1972.

Pound's best-known works include Riposte and the unfinished epic, The Cantos, and he got a lot of inspiration for his poems while living in London – from 1908 to 1920 – making an impression as a flamboyant character who walked around in a sombrero and large earrings.

He spent some of the time at this end-of-terrace Victorian house in quiet courtyard, Kensington Church Walk, where there's a blue plaque. All three bedrooms are en-suite with underfloor heating throughout. The open plan dining room has a glass roof while there's also a large terrace and off street parking at the front. It's on the market for £4.3m.

Exclusive Spider is super

The new McLaren 675LT Spider was revealed at the end of 2015 as the latest chapter in the history of the iconic 'Longtail' name, and was the fifth new model debuted during a truly defining year for McLaren Automotive.

Strictly limited to only 500 examples worldwide which sold out in just two weeks, it is only the second model to wear the LT badge.

It arrived less than a year since the first model in nearly 20 years resurrected the name, and was in response to significant customer demand.

The 675LT Coupé focused on lightweight, enhanced aerodynamics, increased power and track-focused dynamics, and this limited-run model quickly sold out before the first deliveries commenced.

Sharing these key characteristics, McLaren Automotive has added the most focused, fastest and exhilarating open top model to ever wear a McLaren badge, further strengthening the 'LT' brand.

The 675LT Spider stays true to the spirit of its iconic predecessor with aerodynamically optimised, dramatically enhanced styling that results in 40 per cent more downforce than the 650S Spider which it sits alongside in the McLaren Super Series. The main focus for the 675LT Spider is clear: to deliver maximum performance, engagement and excitement.

To achieve this, weight has been reduced by 100kg through the increased usage of carbon fibre – and by lighter components throughout.

Under the skin sits the heavily-revised 3.8-litre twin turbo V8 powertrain from the Coupé sibling, ensuring performance figures are worthy of the LT badge. The power output and torque figures remain unchanged, with 675PS (666bhp) delivered at 7,100rpm and 700Nm (516lb ft) available between 5,000-6,500rpm.

The changes to the powertrain saw more than 50 per cent of the components replaced to ensure optimised levels of power, torque and drivability.

These include new, more efficient turbos, detail design changes to the cylinder heads and exhaust manifolds, new camshaft and lightweight connecting rods, and a faster-flowing fuel pump and delivery system. Acceleration from 0-62mph takes just 2.9 seconds, and 124mph is achieved in 8.1 seconds.

Only 500 examples of the 675LT Spider will be built, alongside the 675LT Coupé, and all are sold.

These are the most exclusive models in the Super Series, and will be produced in the McLaren Production Centre, alongside the McLaren Technology Centre, near Woking, England.

Toyota Avensis

Take a look inside. . .

The Toyota Avensis gets another facelift, but this time the effects go deeper than superficial styling updates.

The engines have been upgraded, the suspension and steering improved and there's a redesign for the interior. It cements the Avensis' position as one of the classiest cars in its sector.

As you probably guessed, the engine changes haven't focused on making the Avensis more dynamic or exciting to drive, instead concentrating on improving efficiency. The engine range comprises 1.6 and 2.0-litre diesels and the petrol options range from 1.6 to 2.0-litres.

The suspension basics remain much the same, with a MacPherson strut up front and slick double wishbones at the back, but both have been tweaked to improve ride and handling.

Steering feel and responsiveness have been improved by the use of a new intermediate shaft, a revised anti-roll bar and an increase in body shell rigidity through the use of a powerful urethane to bond the wind-screen.

Toyota has also put more sound insulation into the Avensis, as well as fitting thicker rubber seals. The air con has even been made quieter. The cabin has been treated to some brightening up, with updated trim finishes and colour schemes. Toyota hasn't done things by halves here, with a redesigned instrument binnacle, the tachometer and speedometer being separated by a 4.2-inch colour TFT screen on some models.

The steering wheel, gear lever and switchgear have also been updated. Better consistency of typefaces and lighting are complemented by satin chrome highlights.

By improving efficiency and incorporating some seriously impressive technology, Toyota has forced the Avensis back into class contention.

When you have a car efficient enough to be able to put tax benefit-in-kind cash back in your pay packet and one clever enough to enable you to email, tweet and text on the move, you have one that's going to endear itself to plenty of people.

Could it be more exciting, both to look at and to drive? Well probably, but you can see why Toyota weren't keen to go too far and upset the legions of customers attracted by the sensible charms of previous models.

The New Tiguan Wins "Design Trophy 2016"

The new Tiguan wins "DesignTrophy 2016". Every year the German special interest magazine Auto Zeitung presents this award to honour the most successful new automobile developments. The new Tiguan prevailed against 14 competitors in the "SUV" category. In September 2015, the second generation of the Tiguan celebrated its world premiere at the International Motor Show (IAA) in Frankfurt. It impresses with its completely new and elegant design that radiates power and authority. Compared with its predecessor, the new Tiguan has a longer (+6 cm), broader (+3 cm) and lower (-3 cm) appearance. Not least among the factors responsible for the implementation of these new dimensions is the use of the Modular Transverse Matrix (MQB). The result is an unmistakable SUV profile with distinctive proportions and a very dynamic design.

Inept Villa give us perspective

THE football season is coming towards its end and while Luton's fans will feel it hasn't gone according to plan, they're a group that certainly have perspective given past events.

In the space of just over three years, they saw their side go from playing Liverpool off the park for an hour in the FA Cup to having to plan away trips to Conference outposts such as Kettering and Salisbury.

Remembering the bad times may temper the disappointment they'll have in floundering in mid-table for much of the campaign, for they've gone through enough to know that things can be a lot worse.

That won't be a feeling shared by Aston Villa fans this week, who must be wondering 'what else can go wrong?' after their disastrous relegation from the top flight this season.

Villa have been so bad this year they'll be remembered alongside Swindon (1993/94), Sunderland (2005/06) and Derby (2007/08) as one of the worst teams in the history of the Premier League.

If getting beat week after week wasn't bad enough for their supporters, the fact that some of them seemingly don't care must be infuriating.

While relegation has looked inevitable for months now, surely they could have gone down with a bit more of a fight than the tame way their demotion to the Championship was confirmed?

Testimonials have been played with more intensity than the drab 1-0 defeat at Manchester United, after which came one of the most ridiculous lines from a player already hugely unpopular with Villa's fans.

Post-match, Joleon Lescott said: "Now it's confirmed maybe it's a weight off the shoulders and we can give these fans what they deserve, some performances."

What part of his mind though this would go down well?

This after he tweeted a picture of an expensive Mercedes following a humiliating 6-0 home defeat against Liverpool and claiming it was sent by mistake with his phone in his pocket.

Suddenly, 'my dog ate my homework' doesn't sound like such a stupid excuse.

Let's not even start with Gabby Agbonlahor. Rarely has a player's attitude been more out of place with his

TAME SURRENDER: Aston Villa's dreadful season will see them go down as one of the worst teams in Premier League history team's situation – overweight and apparently past caring that a once promising career has come off the rails.

Whatever has happened at Kenilworth Road this season, Hatters fans can't accuse their players of throwing in the towel in such a fashion.

At least the performances at Oxford and Carlisle have shown better days could yet be ahead. The same can't be said for the Villa Park faithful.

■ One team that has let nobody down this season is Bedford Blues, who have deservedly qualified for the play-offs in the Greene King IPA Championship.

Mike Rayer's men have been the great entertainers in English rugby's second tier this season, producing threats from all over the field with their all-out attacking style of play.

There are only two semi-professional teams in the Championship and the other, Moseley, was relegated last week, while Bedford have a semi-final against Bristol to look forward to, with both legs gaining national exposure as they are in front of the Sky Sports cameras.

They've nothing to lose - Bristol are heavy favourites - and whatever happens, they can look back on the 2015/16 campaign with pride.

Park triumph in Beds Cup

Stockwood Park RFC completed a memorable season this weekend, adding the Bedfordshire Cup to the promotion they secured last Saturday, by way of a 30-12 victory over local rivals Dunstablians.

"Quite a good season," said Park's John Humphries after the game, "and today was a great game to watch. Both teams played really well, and the refereeing was spot on too, a good cup final. We had our noses in front early on, and we were always in control."

Ieuan Beale opened the scoring for Stockwood Park early on to which Toby Meade equalised for the Dees to level the game at 5-5, however, Park made the most of subsequent opportunities as first Michael Powell, and then Ben Griffin crossed the whitewash to give Park a 17-5 lead as Steve Pollock converted the latter, which was how it remained until half time.

After the restart Pollock added a penalty and then Alex Harnett scored a try for Park, and although Ashley Jenkinson replied for the Dees with a try, Alex Lovell crossed the whitewash for Stockwood to kill off any hopes of a late Dees revival.

Luton RFC brought the curtain down on a horrendous season that saw them muster a single victory, losing 68-12 to Tring at Newlands this weekend.

John Wright scored Luton's first try on the hour mark, Jon Kerr added a second five minutes later, as Luton had been trailing 54-0, but Tring ran in two converted tries late on to restore their 50-point advantage.

Luton will now wait to see which division they're placed in by the RFU next season, but should they compete in the Midlands leagues, it'll be in Midlands Two South, alongside newly-promoted Stockwood Park.

Bedfordshire edged out by Northants

CRICKET

BEDFORDSHIRE concluded their preparation for the upcoming season with a narrow 13-run defeat to Northamptonshire in a T20 match at Wantage Road on Thursday.

Beds captain Andy Reynoldson impressed with the ball as he took the wickets of Ben Duckett (16), Richard Levi (40) and Rory Kleinveldt (13) in taking 3-36, but Northants skipper Alex Wakely was to make 42 off 28 balls to help his side to 155-5.

Bedfordshire lost George Thurstance (2) early in their reply but wicketkeeper Rossington went on the attack by blasting nine fours and two sixes.

However, his dismissal at the end of the ninth over signalled the beginning of the end as spinner Saif Zaib claimed 3-15 to ensure their innings wouldn't recover.

Blues lose again at home to Bedworth

FOOTBALL

DUNSTABLE Town finished their season with a whimper as they fell to a 2-1 defeat at home to already relegated Bedworth United.

The Blues ended their campaign on the back of an eight game winless streak, which saw them finish in 11th place after a solid start to the season saw them looking at an unexpected promotion campaign.

Striker Jordan Archer opened the scoring for the visitors with 14 minutes gone, only for Connor Calcutt to hit back immediately from the kick off to level the affair.

The two sides went in level at the half time whistle.

With 58 minutes gone, Archer found the net for his and Bedworth's second, which proved to be the crucial goal.

In the Evo Stik Southern League Division One Central, Barton Rovers staged a late fight back to snatch a draw from the jaws of defeat, finishing 18th.

Potters Bar Town looked set to take an away win with them from Rovers, with a goal either side of the break giving them a 2-0 lead going into the last 10.

The hosts staged a late fightback, with Ashton Grant netting in the 84th minute and Matt Nolan in the 87th.

AFC Dunstable had already been crowned champions of the Spartan South Midlands League Premier Division, but added some extra gloss with a 5-0 with at Tring Athletic.

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

A DISAPPOINTED Nathan Jones confessed that conceding late to draw 1-1 with struggling Newport County was symptomatic of Luton's home form this season.

Jack Marriott looked to have won it for Town with an 81st minute opener after coming off the bench, but Souleymane Coulibaly headed the Welsh side level with two minutes remaining to finally make it mathematically impossible for the Hatters to reach the League Two play-offs.

Manager Jones said: "I'm disappointed, if I'm honest. I'm a little frustrated as well. It's one of those things that have been symptomatic, a little bit, of our home form, our home points tally."

"I'm disappointed with the overall performance. I thought we were poor in the first half, we were lacklustre, didn't come out of the traps, didn't press, didn't impose ourselves and it was a bit of a non-event for us."

"We had three or four opportunities in the first half where we could have scored, good chances, but we didn't."

So unimpressed was the manager that he made an early first half substitution, replacing Alex Lawless with Cameron McGeehan, with the former reacting angrily and punching the dugout wall.

"I would be frustrated if I was him," said Jones, adding: "If he feels I was wrong to take him off then he can come and see me and I'll watch the DVD with him because I don't think I was unjust in taking him off because we started poorly."

"I could have taken off three or four if I'd had a fantasy football wildcard I could have changed a few because we just didn't start well. I wasn't prepared to get hit with a sucker punch early on, like has happened here against Crawley."

"It was harsh on Alex because a few of them could have [come off]. I didn't want to embarrass the kid or anything, but I needed to make a change. I thought Cameron was good when he came on. He provided that spark, that energy. It's just unfortunate, really."

"Maybe that's a learning curve for me, because they've done brilliantly. We've kept the same side that had done brilliant [for three games], but we've got a squad here that we maybe should have used to freshen it up, but we didn't."

Luton were much improved after the break but Jones was still left to lament what could have been.

"We theoretically gave ourselves 45 minutes to win a football match because we didn't turn up in the first half," he said.

BRIGHT PROSPECT: Zane Banton played for the final half hour against Newport

Promise in Hatters point

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON TOWN 1
NEWPORT COUNTY 1

THE Nobel Prize-winning Austrian physicist Erwin Schrödinger's probably hadn't heard of Luton Town Football Club when he came up with his most debated idea to explain the dual nature of quantum mechanics – but like his fictional feline the Hatters proved they are simultaneously dead and alive at the same time.

After this 1-1 League Two draw with struggling Newport this 2016 vintage are, if nothing else, a thought experiment of their own, boxed in, like Schrödinger's cat, to two separate states of being simultaneously.

What does that mind-boggling hypothetical theory – in which a moggy is placed a box with some poison, a hammer and a 50-50 chance of it surviving and now way of knowing until the container is opened – have to do with a football match?

Well, if you squint hard enough, all of this preamble serves to loosely highlight the current paradoxical conundrum of Luton Town Football Club.

This result – in which Jack Marriott's 81st minute header was cancelled out by a late Souleymane Coulibaly equaliser – confirmed struggling Newport's fourth-tier survival while hammering a final nail in the coffin as far as the Hatters extending their campaign.

And, though this has been apparent for some weeks, this result – and a performance unconvincing in the first half and dominant in the second – did confirm that this season is dead.

But at the same time, on the whole, since boss Nathan Jones took the helm, the possibilities are very much alive.

Admittedly, the evidence here was more string theory than hard, irrefutable proof as they struggled to replicate their two previous promising performances on the road.

But the green shoots of revival have been emerging and the hope now is that Jones can tease them to full bloom next season.

There's plenty for him to ponder, not least which personnel will see Luton push-on.

Pelly Ruddock Mpanzu is one of his flock whose contract expires in the close season. Though he had one of his more frustration-inducing forays, he and Joe Pigott were notably denied by superb Joe Day stops.

Yet, in the last few weeks, the midfielder must have played himself to a new deal with hints and occasional full-colour illustrations of the all-action dynamo that Luton fans have demanded of him but too seldom seen.

With one, long-awaited goal last week – and two more since – Pigott has turned from a Bambi-on-ice catastrophe, destined to be sent back to parent club Charlton in the summer, to a striker worth serious consideration for a transfer raid.

FALSE DAWN: Luton couldn't hold on to the lead Jack Marriott gave them late on

The 22-year-old was a lick of paint away from his fourth Town goal and unlucky not to notch a fifth and maybe even sixth in three games.

Alan Sheehan and Glen Rea are two more loan men that could be promising – if permanently assigned to this parish – as a centre half pairing that can play out from the back.

And, of course, Marriott's poacher's goal after coming off the bench, was his 14th of the season.

The cat is very much out of the bag – or box – that his first full Football League campaign has been a roaring personal success.

So too has Town's youth ranks as the under-18s this week added the Youth Alliance League Cup to their league title and a wonderful run to the FA Youth Cup quarter final – a 19-year best – while a new stadium appears increasingly possible and exceedingly exciting.

So, it doesn't take a quantum leap to theorise that if Town can tie together all of these things and maybe a few elements of dark matter then they can really start next season alive and kicking – a big bang even.
